

By making cell phone use available during flight, you will be subjecting all passengers to the boorish behavior of a few. Passengers on such flights will be held captive to listening to others' personal and/or business calls, unable to get off at the next stop as on a bus or subway, unable to move to another seat as almost every seat on every flight is filled. Those of us who fly frequently want to be able to work in relative peace and quiet. Please preserve the rule prohibiting cell phone use on airlines as it currently exists.
